Dr. Fite attended college at the US Air Force Academy in Colorado where he earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Biology. Upon graduation, he was commissioned as an officer in the United States Air Force and began a distinguished military career serving as a Navigator/Electronic Warfare Officer aboard the RC-135 airframe. While assigned as Chief for the 55th Wing Life Support/Survival, Evasion, Resistance, Escape (SERE) program, Dr. Fite was commended for his efforts with the Air Force Outstanding Life Support Officer of the Year Award.

Dr. Fite continued his education and earned an M.B.A. from University of Nebraska, where he was inducted into the Beta Gamma Sigma Business College Honor Society. Upon separation from the Air Force, Dr. Fite pursued a career in medicine and received his medical degree from University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences in Little Rock. During this time, Dr. Fite was elected president for the Arkansas chapter of Alpha Omega Alpha Honor Medical Society and was recognized by his peers with the White Coat Award during his senior year.

Dr. Fite completed his residency training in anatomic and clinical pathology at The Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland. He then completed fellowships in both cytopathology and surgical pathology at The Johns Hopkins Hospital. During these years of training, Dr. Fite was able to work with and learn from leaders in their field such as Dr. Jonathan Epstein in genitourinary pathology and Dr. Syed Ali in cytopathology.

Dr. Fite is married to Danielle, a Boeing 747 pilot whom he met while in the Air Force. The two enjoy outdoor activities such as backpacking and wildlife viewing, which makes the inland Northwest a perfect place to live.

Dr. Fite has completed all three levels of United States Medical Licensing Examinations (USMLE). He is licensed in Washington, Alaska, Montana and Idaho.
